

RICHARD LAMPRECHT

Born in Austria in 1956, Richard Lamprecht came to Australia in 1974 and begun his artistic career as an interior designer whilst producing wax lampshades and wax paintings in the business he helped develop, Maleny Moonlights. Working with hot fluids and primarily concerned with light, glass was a natural progression.

For five years he worked alongside some of Australia's foremost glass blowers, and their influence can be seen in his works today.

Richard built his own glass studio at Maleny QLD in 1996 and has developed his own distinctive range of functional, decorative glass, and is constantly extending the boundaries and possibilities that this medium presents. His work, under the name of 'Ricardo Glass' is represented in selected galleries in Australia.

Richard's warm and open enthusiasm for life is reflected in the colourful, flowing creations he produces.
